Crossing the Chasm

This daylong workshop is grounded in the biblical story of The Rich Man and Lazarus and examines the chasms of separation in our communities. Join Rev. Marilyn Miller and Joyce Caldwell, PhD on March 7 from 9:00 am - 4:30 pm at Redeemer Lutheran Church to examine the construction and meaning of racism and the part we all play in upholding and maintaining the system. We will begin to identify steps and opportunities to grow in both understanding and action. Space is limited.

Migration Stories

Nancy Schultz

As one of the senior members of All Saints and a participant in the Monday night Circle Conversations for justice group, I am going to share some of my ancestry lineage. My name is Nancy Olsen Schultz. Almost everyone in the United States is an immigrant or an ancestor of immigrants, and my ancestors are of mostly Norwegian and German descent.

I am also 100% of Door County, WI background and culture. Both of my parents and one of my grandparents were born in the Door and they all lived there their whole lives. I was also born in Door County and lived in Juddville for my first 18 years of life until I left to attend college. I can trace my lineage to the second settlers in the Juddville area of the Door. My father's paternal grandfather, Hans Jacob Olson was born in 1837 and married Caroline Olsdr, born in 1839, and raised a family that included my grandfather, Nels Olsen, who was born 1876 in Norway. Hans and Caroline immigrated to America when Nels was three years old.

My father's maternal grandfather, Nicholas Kihl was born in 1844 in New York and moved to Wisconsin with his parents. As a young adult he served in the Civil War, enlisting in Company K of the 1st Wisconsin Infantry Volunteers. He was paid $300 to take the place of a draftee, a procedure that was legal in those days. In 1869 he became the 2nd resident in Juddville, by purchasing some land on what is now the corner of Highway 42 and Peninsula Players Rd. There he planted the first cherry orchard in the northern Door. He married Ida Moses at age 32. My grandmother, Mercia Kihl was born in their little house on the farm in 1880.

My grandparents, Nels and Mercia, married in 1898 and developed farmland near the original Kihl property and raised a family of 4 boys and 4 girls. Nels was employed as a fisherman who went out on the waters of Green Bay and Lake Michigan for weeks at a time, leaving Mercia and the family to tend the farm. My father, Olaf, and all his brothers and sisters attended the Juddville Elementary School for grades 1 to 8, where I also attended before heading to Gibraltar High School in Fish Creek.

I am proud of my Door County, hardworking immigrant heritage. My ancestors were not wealthy or prominent; however, with each generation, life became a bit easier. Isn't that the American Dream for all U.S. immigrants?

Please follow Nancy's story with this, similar to the past several weeks:

Thanks to Nancy and Pr. Jennifer for launching our "Migration Stories" series. We intend a monthly series that lifts up stories of immigrant ancestors for celebration and to remind us of how much we share with current immigrants. Everyone has a story. Please consider sharing yours. Stories can be long or short, simple or exciting. Please send your stories to Laura Dralle <ldralle5@yahoo.com> or George Corliss <george.corliss@marquette.edu>. Also, we are happy to just listen to your stories or help edit.

Palm Sunday Path

We believe in honoring the dignity and worth of every child of God.

You are invited to share this belief by walking with us on Sunday, March 29th. We will start our walk from All Saints Lutheran Church and continue along Highway 83 to the Wales Village Hall. SONGORO PARISH PARTNERSHIP

YOU CAN CHANGE A LIFE

You can change a life in Tanzania by supporting this the Songoro Scholarship Program. Patrons from All Saints have been supporting these college students since 2005 and these scholarship recipients have been supporting Songoro Lutheran Church allowing the congregation to add community support programs that would not be possible without the generous contributions from them. There are a number of potential Songoro college students praying that there will be patrons to help financially support for their education. Several of these worthy students are listed at our narthex display for your review.

The relationship Between All Saints Lutheran Church and Songoro Parish in Tanzania continues to flourish. The members of Songoro Parish continue to pray for us at their Sunday service every week. The Songoro Scholarship Program continues to bring pride and dignity to their parish because of the large number of their youth that are attending secondary school and college.
